Glass and Mechanical Strength - Pilkington

Glass is a non-crystalline, amorphous solid that is often transparent and has widespread practical, technological, and decorative usage in, for example, window panes, tableware, and optoelectronics. The most familiar, and historically the oldest, types of manufactured glass are "silicate glasses" based on the chemical compound silica (silicon dioxide, or quartz), the primary constituent of sand.

Bulletproof glass (also known as ballistic glass, transparent armor, or bullet-resistant glass) is a type of strong, but optically transparent, material that is particularly resistant to being penetrated when struck. Like any material, it is not completely impenetrable. It is usually made from a combination of two or more types of glass, one hard and one soft [citation needed].
